

McGill

School of Communication Sciences and Disorders

École des sciences de la communication humaine

Did you grow up speaking only English at home and later learned (at least some) French?

We want to hear from you!

English/French bilinguals are needed to take part in an Event Related brain Potentials (ERP) study investigating language processing. ERP is a technique used to record your brain activity. We will ask you to take part in one testing session (3 hours) on McGill campus.

You will be compensated ($) for your time and inconvenience!

If you are interested in participating or for more information, please contact Annie at baumlab.speech.perception@gmail.com

